Manifesto

About me

I am a second year student of politics and international relations, and active member of the UK's Liberal Democrat political party.

I believe in:

- Environmentalism
I think humanity is behind global warming, and we as students must do everything we can to prevent climate change
- Fair Trade
Living in a relatively rich country like the UK means we have a responsibility to strongly support the third world through schemes like Fair Trade
- No Fees
I believe education is a human right; therefore no one should have to pay for it
- Respect
All students deserve and must get the same respect from society, including other students, no matter who they are

I have:

- Set up the University of Leicester Liberal Democrat society and currently I am President
- Written regularly for The Ripple's Comment section 2007/08 and I am endorsing Jonathan Potter for editor
